Three Hundred Delegates Meet In Convention

Women's General Missionary Society (U. P. Denomination) In Session

NEW WILMINGTON
HOST TO DELEGATES

Program Extends Over
Week End—To Conclude
On Next Tuesday

Three hundred accredited delegates, representing the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church in North America, have signed the register at the New Wilmington U. P. church where they opened their 55th annual convention Friday night. Sessions are planned for morning, afternoon and evening each day through next Tuesday, June 21.

Kansas Woman Presides

Mrs. W. R. Irvine, of Sterling, Kas., president of the organization, is using to conduct the meetings, a gravel used by her father, a graduate of Westminster 70 years ago, when he opened the General Assembly at Sterling twenty years ago. Mrs. Irvine last night gave the opening address of the convention, an inspiring message on "Christ's Drawing Power."

Mrs. Irvine said that the world is on the march these days, restless, wandering, seeking, knowing not what. Many are seeking power, but comparatively few become really powerful. They may possess the qualities, mental, moral, spiritual, which might be developed, but they lack the driving motive. They may want power for the sake of possession or crave it for selfish purposes or, on the other hand, they may aspire to real accomplishment and strive for it with all their being.

Christ did not have to seek for power. He had all power at His command. Mrs. Irvine said, and throughout his life that power was used for others. He could not turn stones to bread. He himself, but multiplied loaves for hungry multitude. He cleansed the leper and (Continued On Page Thirteen)

PANCA OBSERVES

For some reason many of the street signs about the city are in a deplorable condition. Either the weather has caused the condition or vandals have been at work.

In case you are inclined to grumble at the few cloudy days we have had recently, don't forget that June of last year was an extremely rainy month, precipitation being recorded on 20 out of the 30 days.

No new detours are marked out in the local district on the Pennsylvania Highway Detour Bulletin for the period ending June 24, but out-lane operations are drawing nearer to the local district, being scheduled for Crawford County and Butler County roads during that period.

Over a month ago we called attention to the unsightly condition of the empty lot at the South west corner of Pearson and East Washington street. Officials of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church received permission from the owners of the lot, and a few members of the church have cleared out and made a parking space in the rear of the lot, for the use of cars during services. Now it would be well if the front portion, which is in full view of the main thoroughfare, could be given a presentable appearance.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon are as follows:

Statistics for the same date a year ago, follows:
Maximum temperature, 79.

Senator Copeland Will Be Buried On Sunday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A grief-stricken widow and son today escorted the body of Senator Royal S. Copeland, veteran legislator and physician, to his Sutter, N. Y., home for burial.

And even as officialdom and hundreds of friends mourned the sudden death of the New York Democrat, speculation was evoked over his successor.

Died Last Night.
Senator Copeland died at his home here last night at 7:45 from a brain affliction, caused, his doctors said, by intense strain from his work in the dying days of the 75th congress, literally hundreds of times Copeland had warned his colleagues in the heat of a fierce working program coming with the end of congressional sessions, that they must watch out for their health and save their strength. Then, waiving the advice of other physicians directed at himself, Copeland taxed his own strength to the breaking point and succumbed.

'Greater City' Group Adopts General Organization Plan

The "formation committee" of the Greater New Castle Association, meeting last night at The Castleton for its second five-hour-long conference of the week, formally adopted the "general organization plan" for the new civic association which will aggressively promote the advantages of this community.

Speaking for the formation group, Chairman W. Keith McAfee, head of one of the city's large industries, reported:

All Can Participate
"We've approved the general outline for the new group. It is a plan which makes it possible for all the citizens of New Castle to participate. The organization is so arranged that any person, firm, association or corporation interested in the future prosperity of New Castle and vicinity shall have a voice in the steering of a board of directors of 12 members and an advisory council of 36 members."

The complete plan of the organization, as approved, will probably be made public following the next meeting of the formation committee, scheduled for Thursday evening, June 23.

Like on last Wednesday night, Chairman McAfee and the "formation committee" labored last night on the new organization set-up from 7:30 p. m. until 12:30 a. m. The committee approved five objectives at the first meeting.

Salisbury, Md., June 18.—Weighted with four plow shares, the battered body of a teen age expectant mother was found today in the shallow waters of the Nantuxet river on the eastern shore of Maryland. Her identity was not immediately established.

Reports that two other 17-year-old girls were missing in the neighborhood immediately set several hundred townsmen, farmers and sheriff's deputies on a search of the numerous by-ways.

The young woman's body, believed to have been thrown into drop water and then to have drifted to the spot where it was discovered, had been in the water from "five days to a week," physicians said.

After an examination, Sheriff Charles H. Trout said:

"It is a plain case of murder."

Black Addresses State Postmasters

(International News Service)

DUBOIS, Pa., June 18.—Ramsey S. Black, former Harrisburg postmaster who recently was appointed third assistant postmaster general, today addressed the near-closing sessions of the state postmasters' convention here.

Yellow River Flood Spreads Over New Area

Central Front Hostilities In Sino-Japanese War Nearly At Halt

FLOOD NOW COVERS
1,000 SQUARE MILES

Thousands Are Reported As Victims Of Flood Disaster—Toll Mounting

(BULLETIN)

SHANGHAI, June 18.—China's spreading Yellow river flood brought devastation to new sections of the country today and threatened virtually to drown out—for the time being at least—central front hostilities in the Sino-Japanese war.

Japanese authorities here announced the flood area in Honan Province alone now covers 1,000 square miles.

Two thousand villages, they said, were completely inundated and at other 1,500 are partly submerged. Seven hundred thousand Chinese are threatened with death in the swirling muddy waters, the Japanese added while 100,000 are beyond rescue.

Editors' Note: Previous estimates of the number of Chinese victims killed in the floods ranged between 15,000 and 300,000.

Meanwhile, foreign military observers expressed the view that the Japanese military campaign has been seriously impeded by the onrush of the rain-swollen Yellow river. The over-burdened Yellow also threatened to add its waters to the torrent.

Flood Hits Offensives
If the Yangtze floods over, experts said, the Japanese forces might be forced to halt their operations completely—perhaps even reverse their recent offensive against Hankow.

Reports received here said the Yangtze is rising closer to its flood level near Kiating, while in Honan, Kansas and Anhwei provinces about 3,000 square miles were reported under water.

The spectre of pestilence hovered over hundreds of thousands of persons. Starvation, famine, disease, violence and anarchy—threatened to follow in the wake of the deluge. The downpour of rain, responsible for the disaster, showed little sign of abatement.

Deny Report U. S. Fleet Prepares Force Display

Flat Denial Of Published Reports Of Navy Maneuvers In Atlantic

OFFICIALS DECLINE REPLY TO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Published reports that the American fleet would be moved into the Atlantic this summer in a display of armed force to Europe were flatly denied in responsible quarters here today.

The fleet, as announced by the navy department several weeks ago, is scheduled to hold its regular annual winter maneuvers in 1938 in the Atlantic off the northeastern shoulder of South America but there is, according to the navy department, no plan for moving the fleet into the Atlantic prior to that time.

Both the navy and state departments flatly denied that the fleet would be brought into the Atlantic for mid-ocean maneuvers this summer. The fleet is scheduled to move from the Pacific through the Panama Canal into the Atlantic early next year, as previously announced, the navy stated. Maneuvers will be held during February and March in the area off South America and the West Indies and later in the spring the fleet will visit New York for the official opening of the World's Fair.

Following the New York visit the fleet is scheduled to steam back through the Panama Canal to resume its station in the Pacific.

Germany Seeks U. S. Statement On Fleet Program

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 18.—Demanding a clear-cut statement of American foreign policy, Germany today reacted with startling speed to a published report that the United States battle fleet would conduct maneuvers this summer in mid-Atlantic.

In Washington it was denied that the fleet would enter the Atlantic before the summer of 1939, when it is scheduled to visit the New York world fair.

The German foreign office, through its semi-official organ "diplomatic correspondence" openly suggested that Secretary of State Hull straighten forwardly voice American policy "to forestall possible misinterpretation."

The informant has been permitted to speak on this subject.

His personal opinion, as reported, was that the German people would not support a new pact of non-aggression with Russia.

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

NAHANT, Mass., June 18.—In a rustic church filled with sunshine and blooming with white flowers, golden-haired Anne Lindsay Clark today became the bride of John A. Aspinwall Roosevelt, youngest son of the president of the United States.

The president and the first lady, dining in the front parlor, looked out with proud smiles as their grandson, began his wedding in a loud, clear voice, vowed to "love, honor and cherish" the Boston Boston debutante, whom he met and fell in love with three years ago.

Four Hundred Guests
Four hundred distinguished guests and members of the immediate families, including four generations of the Roosevelt clan, witnessed the simple single ring Episcopal service.

Heavy Fighting Near Castellon

Insurgents Are Pushing South

Claim Advance Of Five Miles Is Made In Latest Drive

ADVANCE TOWARD CITY OF VALENCIA

HENDAYE, June 18.—Extremely heavy fighting raged on the Castellon front today as insurgent forces pushed southward down the Mediterranean coast five miles below the seaport of Castellon de la Plana.

At Salamanka, insurgent authorities issued a communique stating Spanish government attacks in the Castellon de la Plana sector were heavily repulsed and that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops were continuing their drive.

Government authorities at Barcelona announced exceptionally heavy fighting resulted in capture of Valencia by their forces. The entire city save for isolated points was retaken, Barcelona claimed.

The Barcelona communique also stated government troops were "brilliantly successful" in attacking insurgent positions in the Puerba de Valdeira area.

Troops Advance.

As a result of yesterday's operations, the insurgents stated, their troops advanced four miles on the Castellon front.

Insurgent headquarters at Salamanka announced that Gen. Miguel Aranda's Galician army corps pushed forward from Castellon to Villa Maleta, crossing the Miagres river at several points.

Madrid dispatches, disputing the government claims, reported that the government forces, commanded by General Jose Muga, linked the Franco legions back across the river when Villaherme was captured.

Muga threw his best forces into the Castellon front battle in an effort to stem the insurgent advance toward Castellon de la Plana and the vitally important port of Valencia.

He received doctorate in philosophy at the College Di San Anselmo in Rome; also a doctor of sacred theology from the same university. He did extensive research work at University of Freiburg. His sermon will be most impressive. The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita will deliver the sermon in Italian.

Music for Mass

Mass and procession will be sung by the St. Vincent church choir, under the direction of B. J. Bondi, with Mrs. Elizabeth Lasko at the organ. Before the procession music will be offered by the Peabody Conservatory string quartet of Baltimore, Md. The personnel includes Frank Gittelson, violin; Bert Wirtz, cello; both professors of their respective instruments at the Peabody Conservatory. Both men are members of the Baltimore symphony orchestra. Mr. Gittelson serving as concert master, while Mr. Wirtz was first cellist and assistant conductor. Alvin Holston, Music B. viola, member of the National symphony orchestra, and Walter DeLillo, music B. brother of the newly ordained priest, violin, a member of the Peabody Conservatory staff, first violinist in National symphony orchestra and staff member of Hood college, Fredericks, Md., completes the quartet.

During services a beautiful gold chalice, a gift from Alfonso Scarsano, a close friend, will be presented to the Rev. Fr. DeLillo.

The Rev. Fr. DeLillo received his early education in St. Vincent parochial school and North street junior high. During this time he began studying the piano under the direction of Garth Edmundson, who today is acclaimed as one of America's foremost composers for organ. In September, 1926, the Rev. Fr. DeLillo began studying for priesthood. He spent six years in St. Fidelis Seminary, Herman, Pa., under the professorship of Capuchin Fathers. After completing classical courses he was graduated with distinction to the higher studies of philosophy and sacred Scripture at St. Vincent Seminary in Latrobe. After successfully passing the required examination before the synodal board of examiners of the Pittsburgh diocese, the Rev. Fr. DeLillo was admitted to the courses in sacred theology, both dogmatic and moral, in the post-graduate school of the same seminary, which is conducted by the Benedictine Fathers.

During the six years in St. Fidelis and the six years in St. Vincent Seminary, Rev. Fr. DeLillo took part in all activities. His interest in dramatic art made him a well-known figure in the annual page presentation, and he continued to build upon the musical foundation he received from Mr. Edmundson so that at St. Vincent he was later appointed conductor of the Seminary Choral Society College Symphony and arranged the music for the college band.

On June 13, 1937, he was ordained sub-deacon, and in October he was ordained deacon. Last Sunday he was ordained to the sacred order of priesthood, under the personal guidance of his pastor, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita of St. Vincent church.

He is the son of Mrs. Lucy DeLillo, 338 Laurel boulevard.

SENATOR COPELAND WILL BE BURIED ON SUNDAY

day of the session, Copeland participated in the hot debate on the senate floor, and evidenced no distress. His fellow senators remarked that "Doc," as many of them affectionately called him, seemed "in fine shape," as many of them affectionately called him, seemed "in fine shape."

Dr. John W. Oliver, official congressional physician, gave a urinalysis of the senator's urine, showing no signs of the immediate cause of death.

Following which Dr. Oliver gave Copeland two weeks ago went into the New York Yorker, placed the omnibus flood control to final passage.

Senator Copeland was the second member of the 75th congress to die within 24 hours after the close of the session. Rep. Alfred Gasque (D) of South Carolina died early yesterday morning at Walter Reed hospital.

See Appointment Delayed.

Official circles here expressed the belief Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York would not immediately appoint anyone to succeed Copeland unless there is a special session of congress before the people go to the polls in the fall elections. Among those mentioned as possible eventual successors to Copeland were Joseph P. Kennedy, now ambassador to Great Britain, Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York City, Postmaster General James A. Farley and Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson.

Senator Copeland in the past several years has been a frequent critic of the Roosevelt administration, and has seen eye to eye on few issues involving the politics of the New Deal. However, in his 15 years of service in the senate Copeland has drawn about him universal affection of his colleagues, Republican and Democrat alike. Messages of regret and condolence came to his home here by the hundred.

Copeland was born at Dexter, Mich., on November 7, 1892. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, and from 1918 to 1922 was health commissioner of New York City. His widow and one son, Royal S. Copeland, Jr., survive him.

Funeral Sunday.

Dr. Copeland's body was to leave here at 10 a. m. for Suffern, N. Y., and funeral services will be held there tomorrow. Burial will be in Suffern cemetery. Vice-President Garner, from his Uvalde, Texas, home, and Speaker Bankhead here were to name a joint congressional committee early today to accompany the body northward.

Mrs. Copeland suffered from severe shock after the senator's death, and today was under a physician's care.

Dr. Copeland was chairman of the important senate commerce committee, and in that post steered through legislative channels most of the flood control, merchant marine and aviation legislation of the past several years. He was a tireless worker, and nationally known for his debonair appearance and the red carnation which adorned his lapel every morning.

Insistently conservative, Senator Copeland broke with the New Deal early in President Roosevelt's administration, fought the administration's supreme court reorganization program fiercely, and made a futile anti-administration race for the New York mayoralty in which he was defeated by the Fusion backed LaGuardia last year.

Writings and radio broadcasts on health problems brought Copeland as much renown as was his in the senate. For years he conducted a daily syndicated column discussing the physical ills of humanity and ways to avoid and cure them. He was the author of "Refraction," a textbook, and "The Health Book," a treatise of medicine for the laity.

President Shocked.

President Roosevelt, in Nalant, Mass., to the wedding of his son John, was one of the first to telegraph condolences to the senator's widow.

"We have been greatly shocked to hear of the senator's sudden death. Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in sending you our deepest sympathy."

Gov. Lehman's message, Expressing regret and longing praise on Copeland for his service to New York state and the nation, the governor said he was "unexpressibly shocked" at news of Copeland's death.

Senator Robert Wagner, Copeland's New York colleague, said he was "broken-hearted."

"Only the other day," Wagner observed, "I saw that he was dreadfully tired, and I pleaded with him to take a little rest. He had served on eight different conference committees in the closing days of congress—one of them working on a food and drug bill that was one of the dreams of his life."

Similar messages came from dozens of members of congress. New York state officials and friends in all walks of life.

Monday, June 20, 1938.
The Castillon
12:15 to 1:30 P. M.

Fellow Patriot:

Did you know that George Washington, because of his economic interest in navigation on the Potomac was indirectly responsible for the first joint commission from Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware that met to form their law for a uniform system in their commercial relations and their permanent government? From this meeting developed the constitution of the United States.

Did you know that Pennsylvania was the second state to ratify the constitution, being the days later than Delaware in the action.

Our program will be fitting to the national recognition of the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the constitution and we will have former U. S. District Attorney Louis E. Graham of Beaver address us on this subject.
